

Connect to Student Preparedness

Students who are required to use McGraw-Hill Connect® are more prepared; class discussion is more engaging, studying is more efficient, and confidence is up at exam time.

They report that they benefit from the organization of their homework assignments, the hands-on practice, and the adaptive, personalized study capabilities; meaning they are always on task working on the material you want them to be working on. Students admit that they might not have used Connect if it were optional, proving that requiring it is the best way to guarantee positive outcomes.

“When Connect was required, I had to use it. I saw results in my test scores and grades. It definitely increased my assignment completion and helped me be more prepared for class.”

Loras College

What students are saying about Connect when it is required:

"Connect is much more important for the C and B students who need the extra practice. These students however are much less likely to use Connect if it is only optional which is why it is important for it to be required."

Andrew L.
Iowa State University

"Connect required me to be on top of my work load. It set due dates for me to finish my assignments, so I never fell behind with my work. Through the practice questions and homework I was able to determine my weaknesses and thus practice them. Connect allowed me to earn a better grade."

Christopher A.
Penn State University

"Students will not do the homework unless it is part of their grade and doing the homework allows you to understand the material and pass the problems on the tests."

Nicole L.
Cedar Crest College

"I was able to be well prepared for class discussion through the interactive and adaptive technology provided by Connect. The due dates kept me responsible and organized. I received very high grades on my speeches, so it paid off!"

Kotryna S.
College of DuPage

"Being able to be hands-on and interactive with my studying was definitely more beneficial than flipping through pages of notes following lectures."

Phillip F.
University of Alabama

"I feel that having Connect assignments each week forces me to study the material and master the concepts taught each lecture, so that I understand the current concepts before moving onto another topic."

Kristen B.
Nova Southeastern University
